StorageInc.com

FOR LEGACY STORAGELY CUSTOMERS

A new way for renters to find you. On us.

Renter → StorageInc → Your rental flow

StorageInc.com helps renters discover storage facilities and sends them on to each operator's own rental experience. Eligible legacy Storagely customers get core participation at no additional cost.

More opportunities to be discovered

Renters can find your facilities through StorageInc search, location pages and specialized storage content — starting from a need like a city, a size or "climate-controlled."

Your renters. Your rental experience.

Renters who choose your facility continue into your rental or reservation flow. StorageInc is a discovery and referral experience, not a replacement for your rental platform or customer relationship.

Fair rankings

- ✓ No commissions or lead fees
- ✓ Nobody can pay for position, and no Storagely tier gets a ranking boost
- ✓ Default order weighs factors such as proximity and reviews; renters can re-sort

Connected inventory

Units, rates and availability come from your Storagely data. Units and prices that can't be verified aren't presented as confirmed availability.

core participation for customers the Storagely team designates as legacy — on any tier. Some optional premium features cost extra.

StorageInc Labs is part of participating

StorageInc is where Storagely tries better ways to find and rent storage. Labs is a required part of participation, acknowledged in the same digital agreement — there's no separate opt-out. It doesn't automatically change your website, inventory, pricing, promotions or rental terms.

StorageInc.com is created, powered and managed by Storagely, and is live with staff-approved onboarding. Participation is another place to be discovered; it doesn't guarantee search placement, leads or rentals, and StorageInc and your own website may both appear for overlapping searches. A facility being listed doesn't mean its operator has signed the participation agreement. Requires locations on Storagely Flex.
